HEAD COACH CARL SALYER

THIRD SEASON AT MARYLAND • MARYLAND '04

Carl Salyer, a former water polo player at UCLA and assistant coach at the Naval Academy, is in his third season as the head coach for women's water polo at the University of Maryland.

In his first year, he turned around a Terrapin program that was winless in its inaugural season of 2004 and directed Maryland to a 12-19 mark. During the 2005-06 season he led the Terps to the program's first winning record, 19-14 overall. In 2006, Maryland qualified for the CWPA Eastern Division Championship and placed seventh.

Salyer, a southern California native, came to Maryland after serving as an assistant coach at Navy since 1999. Salyer helped guide the Midshipmen to the 2000 and 2003 NCAA Final Four.

Prior to his time at Navy, Salyer spent five years working with the Naval Academy Aquatic Club. He guided the Navy AC 18 & Under women's team to the National Junior Olympic Championship in August of 2000 and coached the U.S. Men's National Youth "B" Team in the summer of 2002. He also guided the Navy AC to back-to-back championships at the Maui Invitational. His coaching experience on the club level has helped place many men and women in Division I programs.

"I am excited to be part of an athletic program with the success that Maryland has had," Salyer said. "I look forward to building the water polo program to the same level of success."

As a player, Salyer competed at Golden West (Calif.) Community College for two seasons and at perennial national power UCLA for one. Salyer earned a degree in kinesiology from the University of Maryland in 2004.

MEGHAN GRAVES

ASSISTANT COACH
FIRST SEASON AT MARYLAND
MARYLAND '04

Meghan Graves, a member of Maryland's first varsity women's water polo team in 2004, is the program's first full-time assistant coach. Graves played for the Terrapins from 2000-2004, with the 2004 season being the first at the varsity level.

For the past two seasons, she has been a volunteer assistant coach at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, while working in other positions in fitness and aquatics.

"I'm very excited to be back at Maryland," said Graves. "Having graduated from here, I'm obviously a huge fan of the University of Maryland, both academically and athletically."

She was the captain of the women's water polo team, as well as a member of the Student-Athlete Advisory Committee. Graves earned a bachelor's degree in kinesiology in May 2004, and was a member of the Dean's List and the All-ACC Academic Team.

"This is a huge step forward for our program," said head coach Carl Salyer. "Her energy and knowledge will be something that helps our program grow and develop. This is a positive step in continuing the growth of the program."

SEASON OUTLOOK

DEPTH AT ALL POSITIONS WILL BE KEY TO MARYLAND'S SUCCESS AGAINST TOP-NOTCH OPPONENTS

With only two seniors and two juniors returning to competition this season, the Maryland women's water polo team is young, but not inexperienced.

"The returning members of the team have been through a long, hard season at the Division I level," said head coach Carl Salyer. "The experience will certainly help them take their game to another level."

The Terps' roster lists nine sophomores, whose experience with last season's competitive conference schedule and eight-game trip to California helped them mature.

RACHEL JORDAN

The returning players "understand what is required of them physically, mentally, and emotionally for the team" according to Salyer. Five of the Terps' top six scorers from last year—Rachel Jordan, Elizabeth Hopkins, Blaise Stanicic, Bryndis Klein, and Christen Vagts—are returning to the team as sophomores and are expected to take on starting roles.

The team has also added two new faces to the core of young talent, freshmen Sarah Ivry and Shannon Simerly. Ivry graduated from the same northern California high school as senior Marissa Corwin, and is expected to contribute quality defense for the Terps. Simerly hails from Miami, Fla., and will bring speed and strong defensive abilities to the team. Salyer also looks for Simerly to create scoring opportunities on the offensive end of the pool.

Leadership will be vital in directing Maryland's enormous potential to another winning record. Junior driver Allie Houseal will take on the position as co-captain alongside senior Marissa Corwin.

Corwin will also be busy in another role—goalie. Considered the most competitive position this season, Corwin will compete with sophomore Ashleigh Jobson and junior Anna Gossett for playing time.

"Anna has made a huge improvement over the summer, and Ashleigh and Marissa are certainly at top levels," said Salyer. "It's going to be tough for the coaching staff to figure out how to distribute minutes and set ourselves up for success."

The Terps will count on their depth at goalie, as well as at all positions in the pool, to help them adjust to various rules changes this season. A minute will be added on to each quarter's playing time; the new eight-minute quarters.

"The longer quarters will mean that we will need to have and use a good bench," noted Salyer. "We will be running people in and out to keep six fresh players in the game. Everybody on the team this year has the ability and opportunity to contribute."

MARISSA CORWIN

The players' first opportunity will be the Triton Invitation in early February, hosted by the University of California at San Diego. Returning players recall the high level of water polo competition in California, and will need to be prepared to face top-notch teams right out of the gate.

The bar will remain high as the Terps host Michigan, Indiana, and Cal Baptist, as well as conference opponents Princeton, Bucknell, and George Washington, at the Terrapin Invitational Feb. 17-18. Salyer even mentioned the possibility of the Puerto Rican national team and a Russian collegiate team attending. Marist, the 2006 Middle Atlantic Conference champion, is also expected to be in attendance.

ELIZABETH HOPKINS

Bucknell will host a tournament the following week, and then the Terps' conference play will commence against George Washington on March 1. "League games are going to be tough," predicted Salyer. "We will certainly be looking to knock off Bucknell more than we did last year, as well as trying to knock off top-dog Princeton whenever we have the opportunity." Maryland defeated each of their CWPA Southern Division opponents at least once last season.

During the University's spring break, the Terps will return to California, this time for a seven-game tour of the northern part of the state. Maryland did not face any of the same opponents last year, but will be exposed to powerhouse schools such as San Jose State, University of the Pacific, and Stanford. Sonoma State, CSU Monterey Bay, and Santa Clara round out the Terps' competition. Salyer referred to the trip as "huge" because the team will "be playing some of the top teams in the country, and exposing ourselves to top-notch competition that we want to be able to compete with."

SHANNON SIMERLY

On April 21, Maryland will host the CWPA Southern Division Championship at the Eppley Recreation Center Natatorium. Salyer observed, "The bulls-eye is the Southern Division Championship, and qualifying for Easterns. The ultimate goal is to win Easterns to go to the NCAA Championship."

To that end, the team will combine their experience playing together with preparation to begin the season on Feb. 10. "As soon as school started, we started training," said Salyer. "The experience and training will certainly help them take their game to another level."

2006 SEASON REVIEW

TERPS FINISH 2006 WITH PROGRAM'S FIRST WINNING RECORD

The University of Maryland women's water polo team continued to improve in 2006, earning the program's first winning record at the completion of its third season. After failing to win a game in 2004, then improving to 12-19 in 2005, the Terps raised the bar in 2006 with a 19-14 overall record. Maryland earned a 4-7 record in the Collegiate Water Polo Association Southern Division, defeating each division opponent at least once.

The regular season commenced with Maryland hosting the Terrapin Invitational at the Eppley Recreation Center Natatorium. The Terps soundly defeated Navy Athletic Club (10-5) and California State University East Bay (11-4) on the first day. The teams braved a snowstorm to play the second round of competition, when Maryland lost the first game to division opponent Bucknell 9-6. Despite being down, the Terrapins attempted a fourth-quarter comeback by scoring three goals in two minutes. Maryland bounced back from the loss, defeating Siena 9-5 in the final game of the tournament. Freshman Elizabeth Hopkins and junior Dawn Jackson were high scorers in the game, netting two goals apiece.

The Terps traveled to New Jersey a week later for the Princeton Invitational, where freshman Rachel Jordan's four goals led Maryland to a 10-6 victory over Villanova. The team then held Marist to only three goals in a 5-3 win. On the second day of the tournament, the Terps put forth a strong defensive effort and nearly defeated Harvard. The teams were tied 5-5 at the end of the third quarter, but the Terps eventually fell to the Crimson 8-7. Senior goalie Marissa Corwin amassed three blocks in the match-up. A 12-10 victory over Metro Atlantic Athletic Conference leader Wagner rounded out the tournament.

Up next for Maryland was a trip to Lewisburg, Pa., for the Bucknell Invitational. The Terps used a 16-4 defeat versus formidable opponent Hartwick as a learning experience, then bounced back to solidly beat Slippery Rock 11-5 and St. Francis 13-4. Rachel Jordan and freshman Bryndis Klein each scored three goals for the Terps in the Slippery Rock victory. The following day, Maryland nearly held Penn State-Behrend to a shutout and emerged with a 13-1 victory. Junior Orsi Ferenczy led the Terps with three goals, and freshman Jill Lau contributed two.

The Terrapins then made the short trip to Washington, D.C. to face division rival George Washington. Despite being tied 3-3 at halftime, nine blocks by goalie Marissa Corwin contributed to the Terps' 9-4 win over the Colonials. Next, the Terps were upended by Bucknell 5-3 in the two teams' second match-up of the season. Maryland put forth a strong defensive effort, including seven blocks by Corwin and four by freshman Ashleigh Jobson in goal.

The Terps recovered from the loss with a 5-1 victory over nationally-ranked CWPA Southern Division foe Princeton. The Tigers were ranked No. 16 at the time of the upset, which Maryland coach Carl Salyer called "the biggest win in program history." Corwin excelled in the game, blocking eight while allowing only one goal.

BRYNDIS KLEIN

BLAISE STANICIC

On the offensive end, Rachel Jordan and freshman Blaise Stanicic each netted two goals and Bryndis Klein added one.

From there the Terps carried their success to win three straight games on their eight-game trip to California over spring break. California is a hotbed for the sport of water polo, and Maryland was up against a number of talented teams. Maryland received scoring from eight different players in their 15-1 victory over Cal Tech, led by Rachel Jordan and senior Juli Jordan with three goals apiece.

Following the decisive victory against Cal Tech, the Terps won a pair of close games against Cal Baptist (11-10) and Occidental (4-3 in overtime). Elizabeth Hopkins scored two straight fourth-quarter goals that sent the game against Cal Baptist into overtime, then finished the hat-trick by scoring the winning overtime goal. Against Occidental, Rachel Jordan led Terrapin scorers with five goals, and Blaise Stanicic netted the winning goal with only 28 seconds remaining.

The No. 4-ranked LMU Lions ended the Terps' winning streak with a 10-2 victory. Blaise Stanicic and freshman Christen Vagts scored the team's only goals. The Terps then defeated Cal Lutheran 6-4 before losing the final three games of the trip to third-ranked UCLA (18-3), seventh-ranked San Diego State (12-6), and eleventh-ranked UC Irvine (10-4).

Maryland returned to College Park at the beginning of April for the ECAC Championships. The Terps avenged the close loss to Harvard earlier in the season with a 5-3 come-from-behind victory. Maryland scored three goals in less than a minute and a half to take the lead. Then, the Terrapins fell 10-7 to Bucknell for the third time, despite out-scoring the Bison 5-4 in the second half. Rachel Jordan led scorers with three goals. A narrow 8-7 victory over Wagner finished out the tournament for the Terps.

Maryland then defeated division opponent George Washington for the second time last season, 6-4, in College Park. A fourth-quarter comeback was necessary for the Terps to win after going down 4-2 at the end of the third. The Terrapins remained in College Park for their final two regular-season games, against Bucknell and Princeton. The Bison defeated the Terps for a fourth time with a 7-1 victory, in which Christen Vagts scored the only goal for Maryland. No. 19 Princeton avenged its earlier loss to Maryland by downing the Terps 10-3.

At the CWPA Southern Division Championships, Maryland defeated Bucknell after four previous losses. High scorers in the 6-5 victory over the Bison were sophomore Allie Houseal and Christen Vagts with two goals each, and Marissa Corwin blocked five in a complete-game effort. The Terps then came up short against Princeton (13-4), but the win against Bucknell qualified them for the CWPA Eastern Division Championships in Providence, R.I.

The Terps faced No. 20 Princeton for the second straight time, falling 7-2 in the first round of Eastern Championships play. Turnovers cost the Terps against the Tigers, as well as against host team Brown. After leading the Bears 3-2 at halftime, Maryland ultimately fell short 5-4. The Terps then finished the season on a high note, with a 4-3 victory over Harvard to earn them seventh place in the tournament.

ALL ABOUT WATER POLO

WHAT YOU NEED TO KNOW ABOUT THE SPORT OF WATER POLO.

From USAWaterPolo.com

AN INTRODUCTION TO RULES AND STRATEGY IN WATER POLO

Water Polo can be a confusing game for spectators. The whistle is constantly blowing and the play never stops, even when someone is excluded for a penalty. In addition, there are several misconceptions about the game, including how the players keep their horses swimming. Well hang in there, because the following information should help to make the picture much clearer.

The standard course for a Water Polo game is 30 x 20 meters, but non-championship games may be played in a pool not less than 20 x 10 meters. The pool should be all deep, with championship games played in a minimum depth of 2 meters. Goals are positioned at each end of the course. Each team has seven players. Six are field players and one goalkeeper, who guards a .9-meter high by 3-meter wide goal at the end of the field of play.

The object of the game is to throw a ball into the opponent's goal and to prevent members of the opposing team from scoring on your goal.

The ball is advanced by throwing it or swimming with it. The major restrictions are that a player cannot touch the ball with both hands at the same time (the goalkeeper is an exception to this rule) or strike the ball with a closed fist.

Each contest consists of four eight-minute quarters. The offensive team has 35 seconds of actual playing time to take a shot at the goal, or else it loses possession of the ball. "Shot clocks" indicate the number of seconds remaining before a team will lose possession.

The two-meter line, visible on each side of the pool, delineates the distance from the goal. The offensive team may not pass this line unless preceded by or accompanied by the ball.

The four-meter line is a second mark visible along the side of the pool. Should an offensive player who has possession of the ball and is moving towards the goal be fouled inside this line, she may be awarded a penalty shot from the four-meter line. A penalty shot is awarded by the referee. The offensive player faces the goalkeeper across four meters of water. When the whistle sounds and the referee makes a hand signal, the player takes a shot at the goal.

The seven-meter line marks a point when fouls are committed beyond seven meters, the player fouled may either take a free throw or a direct shot on goal if taken immediately, without faking.

The mid-field mark indicates the center of the field of play. To start each quarter, the ball is placed on the center line and the teams race from their respective goal lines for possession. After a goal, the teams line up on the center line, each in their respective sides, to restart play.

Fouls play an important part in the strategy of water polo. Much of the team's effort will often go into inducing its opponents to commit fouls. There are three kinds of fouls: ordinary, exclusion and penalty.

ORDINARY FOULS ARE ASSESSED FOR:

- Touching the ball with two hands, if a field player;
- Taking the ball underwater when tackled;
- Impeding the progress of an opponent without the ball;
- Pushing off an opponent;
- Splashing;
- Failing to shoot at the goal within 35 seconds of gaining possession or failure to advance the ball.

For ordinary fouls, the opposing team receives the ball at the point of the foul or at the spot of the ball or from the location of the ball if it is further from the defending team's goal. If the foul was committed inside the two-meter line, the free throw must be taken from the two-meter line. The player taking the free throw has approximately three seconds to put the ball into play. If the ball is not put in play within this amount of time, the team may be charged with delay of game and the opposing team may be awarded the ball.

EXCLUSION FOULS ARE ASSESSED FOR:

- Intentional kicking or striking an opponent or making disproportionate movements with that intent;
- Interfering with a free throw;
- To impede or push off an opponent before a free throw, goal throw, corner throw or penalty throw is taken;
- Committing an act of misconduct by using foul language or violent or persistent foul play which is unacceptable within the Spirit of the Rules and which is likely to bring the game into disrepute;
- Refusing obedience or to show disrespect to an official or referee;
- Holding, sinking, or pulling back an opponent not holding the ball;
- Committing an overly aggressive ordinary foul;
- Committing an act of brutality.

An exclusion foul is punished by the award of a free throw to the opposing team and the exclusion of the player who committed the foul. The excluded player must move to the re-entry area, nearest to the players own goal line (located near the team bench side of the pool), without leaving the pool or interfering with play. The excluded player, or a substitution, shall be permitted to return after 20 seconds of actual playing time, from the time of the foul, or after a goal has been scored, or after a change of possession. A player is removed from the remainder of the game with substitution after committing three exclusion fouls.

An act of brutality is defined as kicking or striking or attempting to strike or kick an opponent or official with malicious intent. The offending player is removed from the remainder of the game without substitution, leaving the team of the offending player with one less player than the opponent.

An exclusion leaves one team shorthanded, seven players to six. Many goals are scored during ejections. The game strategy of many teams is to induce the defensive team to commit exclusion fouls. Rather than taking shots on the goal, some teams will patiently work for an exclusion, so as to be able to attack the goal with a one man advantage. When that happens, most teams will go into a "zone defense", whereby each player covers a pre-assigned section of water rather than a particular offensive player.

PENALTY FOULS ARE ASSESSED FOR:

- A defending player to commit any foul within the 4 meter area but for which a goal would probably have resulted;
- For a defending player to commit an act of brutality within the 4 meter area;
- For an excluded player to intentionally interfere with play;
- For an excluded player or a substitute to re-enter improperly during the last minute of the game;
- For the coach of the team not in possession of the ball to request a time out.

A penalty foul is punished by the award of a penalty throw to the opposing team. A penalty throw is a direct shot at the goal and shall be taken by any player of the team to which it is awarded, except the goalkeeper, from any point on the opponents' four meter line.

Much of the action in front of the goal consists of the offensive team passing the ball to the center forward, who plays a position between the two goal posts and the opponents two- and four-meter lines. The object is to draw exclusion fouls that will give the offensive team a six-against-five advantage. Most goals in water polo are scored in this situation.

A "fast break" occurs when a team receives the ball and sprints down the pool at top speed, hoping to score before the defenders can get organized and set up a zone. Fast breaks also tend to produce exclusion penalties; when faced an advantage or with a scoring threat, many defenders will simply pull back the offensive player by the legs or swimsuit.

Goals are scored when the ball completely passes between the front of the goal posts. It need not slam into the back of the net, although the usual shot sails into the goal at tremendous speeds, sometimes exceeding 50 miles an hour.

POSITIONS

DRIVERS

Drivers are field players who specialize in driving skills and quick shooting techniques. Drivers must be extremely fast swimmers and have above-average hand-eye coordination. They also focus considerable attention to defensive play.

GOALKEEPERS

The goalkeeper, or goalie, is the only player permitted to take the ball in both hands or punch it, so long as they are within their own four-meter line. They patrol the three-meter long goal area and are called upon to make "saves" to prevent an opponent from scoring. Within the four-meter area, the goalie is permitted to stand during play. They are not allowed to go beyond the half-distance line but are allowed to shoot at the opponent's goal, as long as they do so from their half of the pool.

CENTER FORWARD (TWO-METER MAN OR HOLE SET)

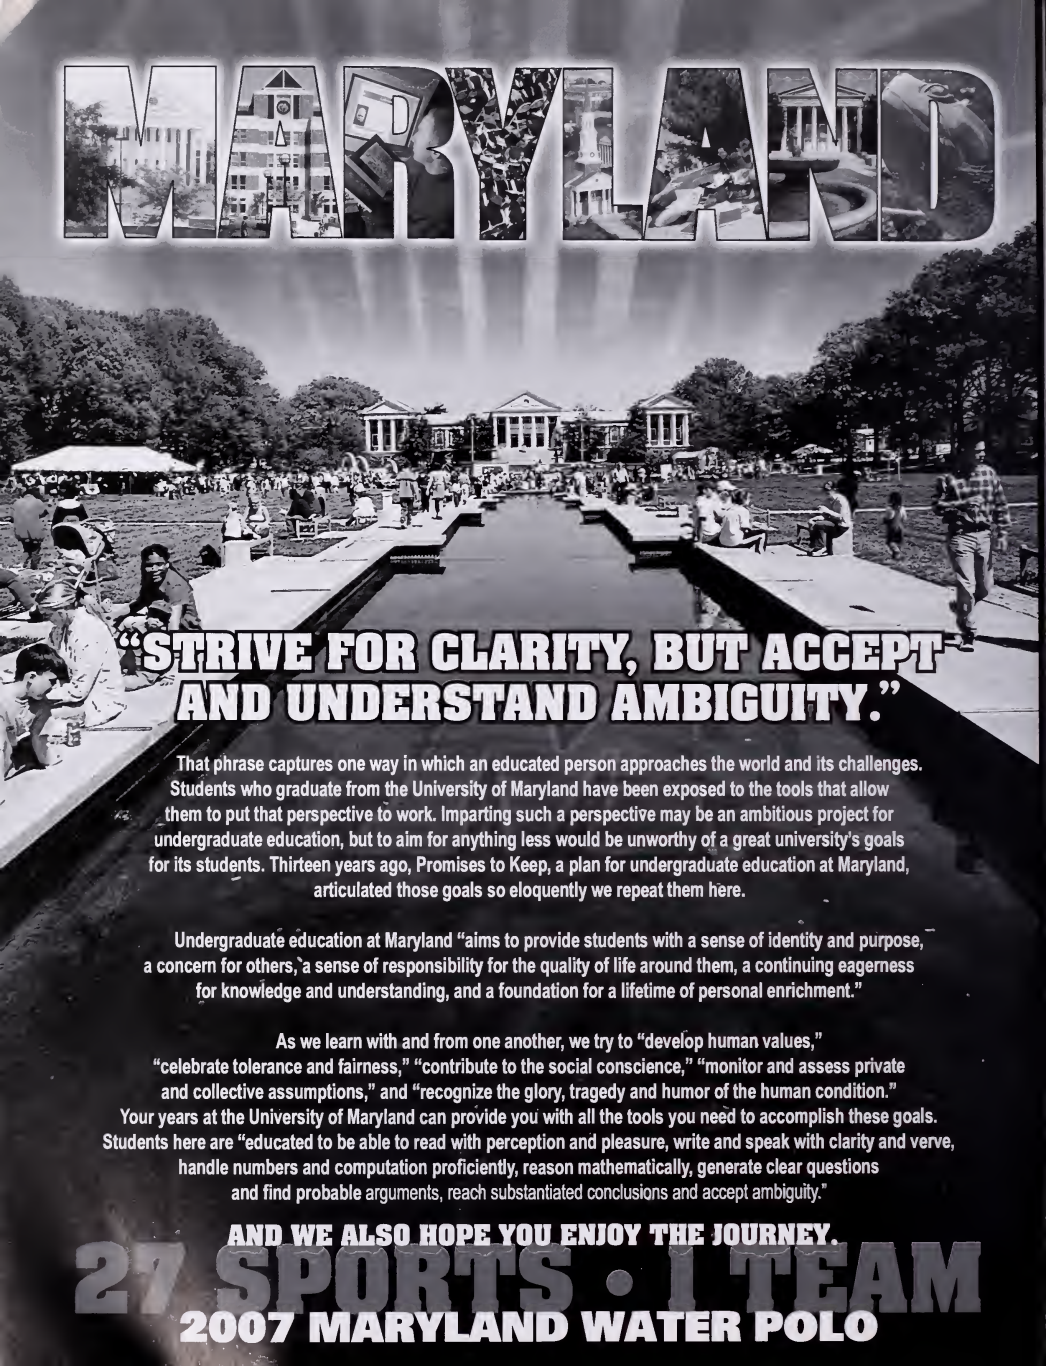
The center forward is the offensive player who takes position directly in front of the opponent's goal, between the two-meter and five-meter lines. The best hole players have above-average size, great leg strength, excellent passing abilities and are skilled in specialized goal scoring. They are similar to centers in basketball in that, in a sense, they "post up," looking for a pass that enables them to get a close-in shot at the goal. The center forwards are always closely guarded.

TWO METER DEFENSE

The Two-meter defender's primary job is to guard the two-meter man or hole set in front of the goal. This player usually guards the biggest player on the other team, and the position requires agility to constantly "front" the hole man to avoid a pass. At the same time, the two-meter defender must be careful not to foul the hole man within three seconds of a foul committed on the perimeter of the pool, or face an ejection. The play at the two meter position is usually the most physical in the pool, and 90% of the positioning happens under water as both the hole set and two-meter defender grab and pull their way to maintain position.

UTILITY PLAYER

More teams are training utility players who play all positions in the pool. Like a halfback in soccer, the utility players are usually the strongest shooters on the team, and will switch with other positions when he or she sees an opportunity to score. Utility players are most effective when they drive in and play hole set and quickly score against a defender who is inexperienced in that position.



MARYLAND
"STRIVE FOR CLARITY, BUT ACCEPT AND UNDERSTAND AMBIGUITY."
That phrase captures one way in which an educated person approaches the world and its challenges. Students who graduate from the University of Maryland have been exposed to the tools that allow them to put that perspective to work. Imparting such a perspective may be an ambitious project for undergraduate education, but to aim for anything less would be unworthy of a great university's goals for its students. Thirteen years ago, Promises to Keep, a plan for undergraduate education at Maryland, articulated those goals so eloquently we repeat them here.
Undergraduate education at Maryland "aims to provide students with a sense of identity and purpose, a concern for others, a sense of responsibility for the quality of life around them, a continuing eagerness for knowledge and understanding, and a foundation for a lifetime of personal enrichment."
As we learn with and from one another, we try to "develop human values," "celebrate tolerance and fairness," "contribute to the social conscience," "monitor and assess private and collective assumptions," and "recognize the glory, tragedy and humor of the human condition." Your years at the University of Maryland can provide you with all the tools you need to accomplish these goals. Students here are "educated to be able to read with perception and pleasure, write and speak with clarity and verve, handle numbers and computation proficiently, reason mathematically, generate clear questions and find probable arguments, reach substantiated conclusions and accept ambiguity."
AND WE ALSO HOPE YOU ENJOY THE JOURNEY.

THE UNIVERSITY OF MARYLAND

THE CAMPUS

By virtually every measure of quality, the University of Maryland has gained national recognition as one of the fastest-rising comprehensive research institutions in the country. The momentum of recent years has poised the university to move it into the top ranks of higher education and take leadership in shaping the research university of the 21st century.

The university has enjoyed a decade of momentum in all of the areas that affect quality. The average high school GPA of entering students has zoomed from 3.01 to nearly 3.90, and the average SATs are now more than 1270. The student body is a model of diversity, with minorities making up more than 33 percent of all students, and at least one graduate and undergraduate student from every state in the nation.

The university has 79 graduate and undergraduate programs ranked in the Top 25 by U.S. News and World Report, up from just one program in 1991.

Sponsored research and outreach has nearly tripled in the same 10-year period, exceeding $350 million last year. Private giving also has increased, and the university last year concluded its first campaign by topping its $350 million goal by more than $100 million. Alumni Association membership has been growing at an average rate of 10 percent a year since 1992.

One of the largest research universities in the United States, Fall 2005 enrollment was 25,442 undergraduate and 9,927 graduate students. There are 94 undergraduate programs, 89 master's programs, 70 doctoral programs and one first professional degree program. More than 100 centers and institutes are engaged in research and outreach.

Faculty at the University of Maryland, in all fields of knowledge, are engaged at the highest levels of national and international concern. The university's location near the center of federal policy-making and international political and economic activity enables it to play an active role in research and analysis of public policy.

Maryland is one of 30 public universities in the prestigious 63-member Association of American Universities and the only public institution in the Maryland-D.C. area with membership in the nation's most distinguished honor society, Phi Beta Kappa.

DID YOU KNOW?

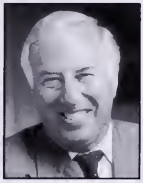
In 1991, Maryland had one program listed among Top 25 entrants in the U.S. News & World Report Rankings. Maryland now has 79 programs ranked among the nation's elite, and the university is ranked 18th nationally among public universities.

A report card published in Technology Review rated the top U.S. universities in their quest for intellectual property, commercial partners and profits. Johns Hopkins University and the University of Maryland (28th) were the Mid-Atlantic (Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, District of Columbia) schools to make the "campus patenting" top 50 list.

Black Issues In Higher Education ranked the university fourth nationally in bachelor's degrees earned by African-American students at traditionally white schools. Maryland ranks first in African-American undergraduate degrees in social sciences and history.

The Wall Street Journal ranked the Robert H. Smith School of Business No. 15 a mong the world's business schools. Maryland is the top-ranked school in the Mid-Atlantic region (Delaware, Maryland, District of Columbia, Virginia). The Financial Times of London ranked the Robert H. Smith School of Business No. 3 in value for money, No. 6 overall among U.S. public business schools and No. 12 in placement rate.

In the undergraduate program rankings released by U.S. News & World Report both the A. James Clark School of Engineering (No. 22) and the Robert H. Smith School of Business (No. 22) were ranked among the top 25.



DR. C.D. MOTE

UNIVERSITY PRESIDENT
CALIFORNIA '59
EIGHTH YEAR

As the 19th president of the University of Maryland, C. D. "Dan" Mote Jr. has presided since 1998 over a university that is claiming a well-earned position in the top echelon of research universities in the nation. An internationally-respected researcher and member of the National Academy of Engineering, Dr. Mote is Glenn L. Martin Institute Professor of Engineering. He serves on the Technology Council of Maryland, is co-chair of the Potomac Conference of the Greater Washington Board of Trade and heads its Technology Transfer Committee.

Under President Mote's leadership, Maryland has received national and international notice for innovative undergraduate education opportunities, high-impact research and academic programs, outstanding performing arts, and athletes and athletic teams competitive with the best in the nation.

"The future of the state depends on this university," says Mote. "It is the State of Maryland's most important asset." As president, Dan Mote has been determined to make that asset even greater by nourishing a culture of excellence and civility across the campus, strengthening the university's connections with its various stakeholders, building partnerships with State and national corporations and federal agencies and achieving distinction as an institution where discovery takes place every day and everywhere. The university's progress can be seen in all areas, from its nationally-ranked programs to its success in building external partnerships to its state-of-the-art facilities.

QUALITY PROGRAMS

Over the past decade, the quality of Maryland's programs and reputation has climbed steadily. In 2003, the University of Maryland moved up to 17th place among public universities in U.S. News & World Report rankings, up from 30th in 1998. We currently have 44 graduate and undergraduate programs and units ranked in the top 15 by U.S. News & World Report, up from 5 in 1995.

While our academic successes have spread across the board, the university has emerged as a true powerhouse in business, computer science, earth sciences, engineering, environmental policy, education and journalism. Maryland is one of only 10 public and private universities that have their programs in computer science, mathematics, physics, and engineering each ranked in the top 20. Our College of Education is ranked in the top 20 nationally and 5 of its programs are in the top 10.

ATHLETIC EXCELLENCE

Mote sees athletics as an integral part of the university experience. Indeed athletic success more often than not reflects academic success, he notes. For example, all four of the teams that played in the 2002 NCAA basketball Final Four, including Maryland, are members of the prestigious Association of American Universities, the organization that comprises the leading research and academic universities in North America. "That's no accident," Mote says. "Institutions that are committed to excellence tend to be excellent in every endeavor. Our successes in football, basketball, lacrosse and other sports reflects our culture of quality as much as our successes in engineering, business, education and journalism."

FACULTY STATURE

Dr. Mote believes a university's quality is built by its faculty, and under his leadership, Maryland continues to attract the best faculty available. The university recruited a Nobel Laureate in Physics in 2001 and three more Pulitzer Prize winners (to join three already on the faculty). More than 30 of our faculty are members of the national academies, the highest professional recognition attainable.

DEBORAH A. YOW

ATHLETICS DIRECTOR • 13TH YEAR AT MARYLAND

Deborah A. Yow is in the 13th year of her outstanding tenure as director of athletics at the University of Maryland, a tenure that has seen unprecedented success and achievement in Maryland athletics. Each year has brought steady and continued improvement and accomplishment in Terrapin athletics. In Yow's 12 years at Maryland, the Terrapins have won a remarkable 13 national championships and graduated student-athletes at an enviable rate as Maryland athletics has soared to sustained new heights among the nation's elite intercollegiate athletic programs.

The comprehensive success of Terrapin athletics under Debbie Yow's leadership is a clear and compelling testimony of her values of excellence, teamwork and accountability.

Likewise, her prior election to the presidency of the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics is an indication of the wide respect with which she is regarded among its 6,100 members representing 1,600 colleges and universities in the U.S. and Canada.

She was honored recently by Street and Smith's Sports Business Journal as one of the 20 most influential people in intercollegiate athletics and she has received the Carl Maddox Sport Management Award presented by the United States Sports Academy for excellence in athletics administration.

Dr. Yow was selected to serve on the U.S. Department of Education's Commission on Opportunities in Athletics to review the status of Federal Title IX regulations. She recently served as the chair of the Atlantic Coast Conference Committee on Television. The committee is charged with overseeing the league's TV contracts and dealing with issues related to television. Yow led the committee during the successful renegotiation of comprehensive, multi-year ACC football and basketball contracts with ABC, ESPN, ESPN2 and syndication entities.

Additionally, she has represented intercollegiate athletics with presentations in a number of prominent settings such as the Harvard University School of Law conference on "Shaping the Future of Collegiate Athletics" and the Street and Smith's Sports Business Journal "National Forum on the Direction of Intercollegiate Athletics" in New York. She was also recently inducted into the State of Maryland Women's Hall of Fame and the North Carolina Sports Hall of Fame, joining fellow Terp Buck Williams as honorees.

Yow, who has served on the NCAA Management Council and the NCAA Division I Budget Committee, is a strong and steady voice on behalf of intercollegiate athletics in America.

Since taking over as AD at Maryland in 1994, she and her staff have:

- Transformed Terrapin athletics into a responsive, goal-oriented organization with 27 sports and more than 700 student-athletes.
- Balanced all 12 of the department's annual budgets (none of the budgets were balanced in the 10 years prior to her arrival). The budget has now reached $52 million annually and the multi-million dollar accumulated operating debt which her administration inherited has been eradicated.
- Greatly enhanced the academic support services provided for student-athletes, with an enviable exhausted eligibility graduation rate of approximately 85 percent for student athletes at Maryland.
- Led the Terrapins to a national all-sports ranking in the upper 7 percent of all NCAA Division I institutions.

IN DECEMBER OF 2004, DEBORAH A. YOW WAS NAMED ONE OF THE MOST INFLUENTIAL PEOPLE IN COLLEGE ATHLETICS BY STREET & SMITH'S SPORTS BUSINESS JOURNAL.

Dr. Yow congratulates one of the members of the Competitive Cheer team that won the 2006 NCA Division I National Championship.

- Significantly expanded marketing and fund-raising efforts on behalf of Terrapin athletics. As a result, private gifts to athletics have increased over 350 percent and corporate sponsorship revenues have increased by over 300 percent during her tenure at Maryland.
- Continued to dramatically improve venues and facilities for the department's 27 teams. The Comcast Center for men's and women's basketball and other sports that use the facility is a prime example of the dramatic upgrade of athletic facilities.
- Implemented a strategic management model.
- Developed a comprehensive Internet strategy with management, marketing and fund-raising applications.
- Significantly improved customer care in every area of Maryland athletics.

The most recent achievements of Maryland athletics are exceptional:

- Maryland captured a remarkable four national championships during the 2005-06 academic season.
- In 2005-2006, the Terrapins achieved the highest student-athlete graduation rate in the history of Maryland athletics.
- Maryland was selected by U.S. News & World Report as one of the Top 20 athletic programs in the nation (for overall quality and competitive excellence).
- In 2005-06, Maryland Athletics won the inaugural PRISM Award as the most well-managed Division I collegiate athletics program in the nation.
- In men's basketball, the Terps won the Atlantic Coast Conference title over Duke in the championship game in 2004 and won the NCAA National Championship in 2002. Under Coach Gary Williams, the men's basketball team appeared in 11 consecutive NCAA Tournaments.
- Maryland was ranked as the sixth-finest athletic program in the nation by the Laboratory for the Study of Intercollegiate Athletics, based on comprehensive criteria such as graduation rates, financial efficiency, equity effectiveness and competitive excellence.
- Women's basketball won the 2006 NCAA National Championship under head coach Brenda Frese, completing an amazing turnaround that saw the program go from a 10-18 record to a National Championship in four seasons.
- In football, the Terps won the 2001 Atlantic Coast Conference championship and played in the 2002 Orange Bowl, followed that with an 11-win season and a 30-3 victory over the University of Tennessee in the Peach Bowl, again followed by a 10-win season and a 41-7 win over West Virginia in the Gator Bowl on New Year's Day 2004. Graduation rates in football are near 80 percent and the program was recently recognized by the American Football Coaches Association for its academic excellence under Coach Ralph Friedgen.
- Additionally, Maryland is one of only two universities in the nation to win National Championships in men's basketball, women's basketball and football. Stanford is the only other NCAA Division I institution to achieve that mark.
- Set an ACC single-game record for women's basketball attendance by drawing 17,243 to a regular-season game at Comcast Center.
- Hired Dave Cottle, the third-winningest active men's lacrosse coach in the U.S., who guided his team to the NCAA Final Four three times in the past four seasons.
- Field Hockey earned a National Championship in 2005-06 and has become a perennial participant in the Final Four in that sport.
- Women's Lacrosse has continued its winning ways with seven national championships from 1995-2001, with additional Final Four appearances.
- Men's Soccer has appeared in four consecutive Final Fours and won the NCAA National Championship in the 2005-06 season.
- Football facilities have been significantly enhanced with team house, stadium and practice field upgrades. The Academic Center was the first improvement, as it took priority over all other initiatives.
- The Terrapins have moved into the new $125 million Comcast Center, housing athletic department offices and seating for 18,000 fans for basketball and other events.
- In 2005-06, 13 Maryland teams competed in postseason play.
- The productivity, morale, and the competitive and academic achievement of Terrapin athletics are exceptional and continue to gain momentum.

Dr. Yow with former Terp student-athletes Boomer Esiason (left), Bonnie Bernstein (center) and Steve Francis (right).

Regarding the many achievements of Terrapin athletics over the past 12 years, Yow says, "We are pleased, but we are not satisfied... our vision is to be one of the Top 5 programs in the nation consistently... we see no reason to settle for less."

Yow is known for her goal-oriented and proactive management style. She consistently inspires and challenges those around her to "raise our sights and sharpen our tools... to work hard and work smart... to recognize that our only limitations are those that we place upon ourselves."

As a manager and a leader, she clearly models these principles. She is the only known current AD in NCAA Division I who has hired both the National Coach of the Year in football (while at Maryland) and the National Coach of the Year in men's basketball (while at Saint Louis University). In 2002, she brought to the University of Maryland Brenda Frese, who at that time was the National Coach of the Year in women's basketball. Four years later, Frese led the Terrapins to the NCAA National Championship at the Women's Final Four in Boston.

She has authored numerous articles and books on athletics management and human behavior, and is a respected leader in intercollegiate athletics in the United States.

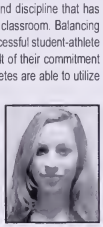
ACADEMIC SUPPORT AND CAREER DEVELOPMENT

The University of Maryland is committed to providing the highest quality education to all of its students. The Department of Intercollegiate Athletics strives to provide student-athletes excellent opportunities to participate in an intercollegiate athletics program of the highest quality, with the result that their athletics participation becomes an integral and valued component of their total educational experience at the university.

Terrapin student-athletes will find that the same hard work and discipline that has earned them success in athletics competition is also required in the classroom. Balancing the significant time demands and responsibilities required to be a successful student-athlete at the highest collegiate level is no small task. Therefore, as a result of their commitment to representing the university through athletics, Terrapin student-athletes are able to utilize support programs designed to meet their specific needs.

Led by associate athletics director Anton Goff, the mission of the Academic Support and Career Development Unit (ASCDU) is to provide quality developmental programs and need-based services that will enhance academic progress, facilitate career development, and encourage the psychosocial growth of all UM student-athletes.



Jessica Myers (right) works with the water polo team.

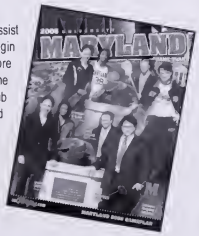
The Gossett Academic Support and Career Development Center for Terrapin student-athletes, named for long-time Terp supporters Barry and Mary Gossett, is located in the Comcast Center. It features a study center that includes 25 desktop computers, a tutoring center, a classroom, a CHAMPS/Life Skills resource room and individual offices for six professional academic counselors, a director of ILP programs, an assistant program coordinator and two graduate assistants. In addition, a new academic wing was added to the Gossett football team house last Fall. It features offices for two counselors, three learning specialist, and a graduate assistant; as well as a quiet study area, 29-desk computer lab, classroom, tutor rooms and classroom/lab for the individualized learning program.

Academic courses, programs and services offered by ASCDU include the following:

- Student-athlete orientation
- Academic counseling
- NCAA academic eligibility monitoring
- Academic enrichment and career development presentations and workshops
- Accredited tutorial support
- Individualized learning program
- EDCP 108-K (College learning strategies and skills)
- EDCP 108-M (Math learning strategies and skills)
- UNIV 100 (First-year transitions to the university)

MARYLAND GAMEPLAN

The Maryland Gameplan is intended to assist graduating Terrapin student-athletes as they begin the job search process. It is distributed to more than 500 corporations and businesses across the country, in addition to being featured on the M Club website. Prospective employers are introduced to our graduating student-athletes with resume information relative to academic, career and personal achievements. The Maryland Gameplan directory is produced annually in collaboration with the M Club.



CAREER NETWORKING NIGHT

Because career development is an ongoing process, ASCDU provides a variety of programs for student-athletes throughout the year. Professional assistance with resume-writing, interviewing skills, graduate school search and job search is readily available to all student-athletes. During the spring semester ASCDU hosts the Career Networking Night, where student-athletes can learn about career interests and career planning. Unlike typical "job fairs," the purpose of this program is to allow student-athletes to explore multiple career opportunities by speaking directly to individuals in their chosen areas of interest. Employers at the Career Networking Night recognize the marketable qualities student-athletes have gained through athletic participation. Student-athletes learn about opportunities for internships and full-time jobs.

STUDENT-ATHLETE ADVISORY COUNCIL

The Student-Athlete Advisory Council (S.A.A.C.) plays an important role in the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics. It consists of two representatives from each varsity sport and meets on a regular basis with representatives from the athletic administration. The S.A.A.C. mission is to enhance the total student-athlete experience by developing leadership skills, promoting student-athlete welfare and fostering a positive student-athlete image on the Maryland campus, local area and nationally.

CHAMPS/LIFE SKILLS PROGRAMS

ASCDU houses the NCAA's (National Collegiate Athletic Association) Challenging Athletes' Minds for Personal Success (C.H.A.M.P.S.) Life Skills Program. The ASCDU staff, in collaboration with various other Department of Intercollegiate Athletics' units and campus resources, strives to provide a systematic personal development program designed to each each student-athlete based on his or her individual needs. The focus of the program is on the individual academically, athletically and emotionally, and on the changing needs and skills of that individual in the years during college and after graduation. The menu of presentations, workshops and seminars is a comprehensive and balanced system of "life learning" programs promoted for use by each varsity sport team.

NCAA CHAMPS/Life Skills PROGRAM

HIGHLIGHTS OF THE CHAMPS/LIFE SKILLS PROGRAMS:

- Support efforts of every student-athlete toward intellectual development and graduation
- Use athletics as preparation for success in life
- Meet the changing needs of student-athletes
- Promote respect for diversity among student-athletes
- Enhance interpersonal relationships in the lives of student-athletes
- Assist student-athletes in building positive self-esteem
- Enable student-athletes to make meaningful contributions to their communities
- Promote ownership by the student-athletes of their academic, athletic, personal and social responsibilities
- Enhance partnerships between the NCAA, member institutions and their communities for the purpose of education
- Encourage the development of leadership skills

CHAMPS/LIFE SKILLS PROGRAMS COMMITMENT STATEMENTS

Commitment to Academic Excellence To support the academic progress of the student-athlete toward intellectual development and graduation.

Commitment to Athletic Excellence To build philosophical foundations for the development of athletic programs that are broad-based, equitable and dedicated to the well-being of the student-athlete.

Commitment to Personal Development To support the development of a well-balanced lifestyle for student-athletes, encouraging emotional well-being, personal growth and decision-making skills.

Commitment to Career Development To encourage the student-athlete to develop and pursue career and life goals.

Commitment to Service To engage student-athletes in service to his/her campus and surrounding communities.

ACADEMIC SUPPORT FOR RETURNING ATHLETES PROGRAM

The Academic Support for Returning Athletes Program was created in 1986 to support the academic efforts of former varsity student-athletes at the University of Maryland, College Park. In 1989, ASRAP was assigned by the President's Office to the Academic Achievements Program and enrolled 40 students that year. As a member of the National Consortium for Academics and Sports (NCAS), the University of Maryland is committed to assisting its former athletes with degree completion. A key component of the program is community outreach. Each returning student completes a "workship" that allows the cost of tuition and fees to be exchanged for community services with youth. In 2002, ASRAP moved into the ASCDU.

MEDIA INFORMATION

MEDIA GUIDELINES

Credentials: Media and photographer credentials for events at Maryland's Campus Recreation Natatorium Center may be obtained by working press, radio and television by writing or calling Stephanie Haas in the Maryland Athletic Media Relations Office, 2725 Comcast Center, College Park, MD 20741-0295. All requests should be submitted at least 48 hours prior to the event by phoning the Media Relations Office at (301) 314-7064. Since space is limited, accommodations are on a priority basis: daily newspapers and wire services, originating radio and television stations, national weekly or monthly publications, electronic media outlets, local and regional television crews. Priority is granted to members of the media who cover Maryland athletics on a regular basis, and to visiting media members. Photo passes will be issued only to accredited photographers on assignment.

Services: The Media Relations Office will provide complete statistics at the conclusion of every home meet. Programs containing rosters and event notes on each team will be provided for the working media.

Fax Machine: The Media Relations Office has one facsimile machine, located in Room 2725 of Comcast Center, which is available upon request. The fax number is (301) 314-9094.

Terps on the Web: For up-to-date game stories, statistics, schedules and results, and other Maryland athletic department information, please locate www.umterps.com on the Internet.

RYAN BOWLES

ASSISTANT ATHLETICS DIRECTOR/ ADMINISTRATION & CHAMPIONSHIPS WATER POLO SUPERVISOR

Ryan Bowles was promoted in the summer of 2006 to serve as Maryland's assistant athletics director for administration and championships. He will have the responsibility for all NCAA and Atlantic Coast Conference championship events hosted by Maryland and will serve as the sport supervisor for water polo.

He will also serve as the liaison for campus and conference sportsmanship issues and will be the liaison to the Athletics Council, a group of faculty, staff and students which reports to the President's Office on matters regarding intercollegiate athletics at Maryland.

Bowles has been on the athletics staff since August 2003, beginning as an intern and working his way to his current position.

Prior to coming to Maryland, he was the Asa S. Bushnell Intern for Championships at the Eastern College Athletic Conference in Massachusetts. There he was also involved in event management and was the liaison for a number of championship committees.

Bowles holds bachelors and masters degrees from McDaniel College in Westminster, where he was a four-time letterwinner for the men's soccer team.
